

Inquiries into Human Faculty and Its Development by Francis Galton

Read by Leon Harvey. Total running time: 10:02:30

This book about biometrics describes at length many different human faculties and proposes methods of collecting data about them. Francis Galton, the author, makes casual observations from personal experiences and compares them with similar cases from other sources. A wide variety of topics are discussed including appearance, habits, and emotional responses.

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org. Cover picture by Octavius Oakley (1840). Copyright expired in U.S. Cover design by David Purdy. This design is in the public domain.

Inquiries into Human Faculty and Its Development

Inquiries into Human Faculty and Its Development